Mass March Given Okay By Kennedy

Look Forward To Being In Capital, President States

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy has given his blessings to the late-August civil rights demonstration planned for the national capital and says, "I look forward to being here."

This was the highlight of a Kennedy news conference Wednesday in which he applauded peaceful racial protests while decrying those which can lead to violence and bloodshed.

The session with newsmen — Kennedy's first in Washington in eight weeks — covered a wide range of topics including:

Business and Taxes: The President said business is better than expected, tax receipts consequently have exceeded predictions and, as a result, last year's budget deficit totaled $6.2 billion compared with a January forecast of $8.8 billion. He said this bolsters his argument that a $10-billion tax cut would boost the economy still further and eventually balance the budget.

Cold War Talks: Kennedy said he is "still hopeful" that the United States, Britain and the Soviet Union can achieve some kind of nuclear test ban treaty in the current Moscow talks. But he thinks talk of a possible summit meeting is premature, saying such a session is not "indicated or needed."

Moon Race: The President wants a continued effort to put an American on the moon in this decade in order to show "the capacity to dominate space." He treated as inconclusive British scientist Bernard Lovell's report that the Soviets may be losing interest in the moon race.

Rail Strike: Kennedy again urged the railroads and operating unions to settle their work rules dispute before a threatened nationwide strike July 29. He said both sides would be much better off to work things out themselves "and not depend upon the government to do it." If a strike comes, Kennedy said he will ask Congress to end it by legislation.

In talking about civil rights, Kennedy scoffed at a claim by Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace that racial demonstrations have been Communist-inspired.

"We have no evidence," he said, "that any of the leaders of the civil rights movements in the United States are Communists."

Ohioans Wait Sun's Eclipse On Saturday

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The moon's shadow will begin to eclipse the sun over Ohio about 4:35 p.m. DST Saturday, according to Assistant Prof. Walter K. Bonsack of the Ohio State University Department of Astronomy.

At the same time, the professor emphasizes what all other scientists have been warning against — do not look directly at the sun during the solar eclipse because it could cause serious and permanent eye damage.

The degree of eclipse in Ohio will range from a maximum of about 80 per cent in the northern part of the state, to 75 per cent in the south. The moon's shadow causing the eclipse of the sun will reach its mid-way point about 5:46 p.m., Prof. Bonsack said.

Danger of watching the eclipse without proper protection lies in the fact that the dazzling rays which usually keep a person from looking directly at the sun are blocked during an eclipse, making it possible to look directly at the sun without pain.

But the invisible infrared rays from the sun still are there and, when focused on the delicate retina of the eye, can cause harmful burns of which the victim is unaware at the time.

The U. S. Public Health Service also has cautioned against observing the eclipse without proper protection. Neither sunglasses, smoked glass nor exposed photographic film offer adequate protection.

A simple projector for observing the eclipse can be made with two pieces of white cardboard, says the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness, Inc. A pinhole or pencil hole in the top cardboard serves to project and focus the image of the eclipse on the second cardboard. The size of the image can be changed by altering the distance between cardboards.

Lacquer Fumes Ignite

Fire Claims Boy, Father In Salem

SALEM — A valiant father who attempted to save his young son from flames which turned their cellar into a brief inferno Wednesday night died this morning at Salem Central Clinic, along with the boy.

A witness at the scene after the explosion and fire said the father, Dickson M. VanSchoik, 38, thought he had rescued his 10-year-old son, Tommy, from death after the blast at 1093 Jennings Ave.

Both burned over their entire bodies, the boy died at 1 a. m. and the father an hour and a half later.

MR. VANSCHOIK, plant manager at the H. K. Porter Co. of Lisbon, escaped with two other sons, but returned when he heard the screams of Tommy, and he was trapped in the burning basement.

LI. Martin Catlos of the fire department said Mr. VanSchoik and his three sons, Tommy, Ricky, 13, and Gregg, 11, were painting the basement floor with lacquer. He said he believed the explosion occurred when the pilot light in the incinerator ignited fumes from the lacquer.

LT. CATLOS said three cellar windows were unopened when he and his crew arrived on the scene.

The basement door was open, however.

The father was reported cleaning one wing of the basement in preparation for a coat of lacquer while Tommy was at work in another wing.

The other two sons were busy painting the floor in a mid-section of the cellar.

A 5-GALLON can of lacquer was found within a few feet of the incinerator.

Firemen arrived at the home at 7:11 p. m. after neighbors reported hearing an explosion.

One neighbor described the sound as a "whoosh" rather than a loud boom.

As firemen arrived, the two older boys had extinguished the remaining flames with a garden hose. Only wiring and joists were damaged.

VANSCHOIK, according to LI. Catlos, was standing on the lawn in a state of shock, and Tommy was lying on the ground screaming.

"The father looked at me as though he were just going to say 'Good Evening,'" the fire officer said.

The father's clothes were completely burned away.

The mother and two other children were in the upstairs at the time of the tragedy.

Mr. VanSchoik began work at the Porter concern at Lisbon in 1961. He also had worked at the Stevenson Co. at Wellsville for a while in 1959.

Hit Turkey Outpost

ISTANBUL, Turkey (AP)—Three Iraqi jets and a bomber attacked a Turkish border outpost near Hakkari Wednesday night with rockets and machine guns, press reports said. Turkish officials said the jets presumably mistook the outpost for a hideout of rebellious Kurds.

Attack By Viet Cong Reds Wounds Chester Soldier

A Chester man serving with American guerrilla forces was wounded in action a few hours after arriving in Saigon, Viet Nam, Tuesday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Potts, 225 Carolina Ave., received word Wednesday afternoon that their son, Sgt. George E. Smith, 25, was shot in the leg when an attack was made on his unit area by Viet Cong Communist guerrillas.

A total of 14 Army Special Forces were wounded in the attack on the airport of South Viet Nam's second largest city.

The attack was made with mortars and machine guns. It lasted eight minutes, but reports said between 16 and 20 mortar shells hit the installation and one of the 60-mm. shells went through the roof of a shed housing the Americans.

Ten of the wounded were taken to the 8th U. S. Army Field Hospital in Nhatrang. Three were in serious condition. Three Vietnamese also were wounded. It was the heaviest casualty toll of American servicemen in a single encounter in the country.

The telegram from the Secretary of the Army said Sgt. Smith suffered gunshot wounds of the right leg from small arms fire when an attack was made on his unit area.

The family was informed the wounds do not appear to be serious, but Sgt. Smith will be hospitalized three to four weeks.

He has been in the service seven years. He apparently had just arrived in Saigon, as a younger brother, Terry Potts, 13, received a postcard from Honolulu, Hawaii, which was dated Monday—July 15. He said he had just arrived and "wish you were here."

The family said they apparently flew on to Viet Nam.

The father said they had been

Tax Asked On Foreign Securities

Will Stem Outflow Of Gold, Dollars, Kennedy Explains

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy, in a surprise move, asked Congress today to tax Americans on most purchases of foreign stocks and bonds. The aim is to help stem the outflow of gold and dollars.

Kennedy's recommendation was certain to have an immediate impact on international financial markets because it would affect American investments currently approaching the rate of $2 billion a year.

The unprecedented proposal, put forth in a special message to Congress on the worrisome U.S. balance of payments problem, represented the boldest and most controversial attempt yet made by any administration to deal with the payments dilemma.

To discourage the mounting flow of American savings abroad, Kennedy called for a special excise tax ranging from 2½ per cent to 15 per cent on the purchase price of securities issued by governments and businesses in 22 industrialized countries. The tax would go into effect Friday and remain on the books until Dec. 31, 1965.

Admittedly this would be strong medicine. But Kennedy said it would "help prevent pressures for more restrictive measures."

A second highlight of Kennedy's 5,500 - word message was an announcement that — for the first time — the United States will exercise its right to draw money from the International Monetary Fund.

Starting Monday, the United States will begin drawing up to $500 million in foreign currencies from the IMF. These currencies will be used by the U.S. Treasury to buy foreign-held dollars that otherwise might be used to purchase American gold.

Kennedy predicted that enactment of the excise tax plus other less dramatic moves under way or planned would trim nearly $2 billion from the U.S. balance of payments deficit during the next 18 months.

In 1962 the deficit—the difference between the amount of money leaving the country and the lesser amount coming in—totaled $2.2 billion. However, the deficit has been mounting this year and, in the April-June quarter, an annual rate of well over $3 billion.

Continued deficits in international financial dealings mean that foreigners are piling up surplus dollars which they can use to buy American gold — the key to the strength of the dollar. In recent years, the U.S. gold stock has dropped $22 billion to under $15.7 billion.

Soviet And China May End Talks This Week

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet-Chinese ideological talks may end this weekend if the delegations can agree on a final communiqué.

The talks were in recess today but were expected to resume Friday.

Reports circulated that negotiations Wednesday argued about a statement to close the meeting, which has done nothing to narrow the split between Peking and Moscow.

Syria Claims Uprising Has Been Crushed

Gen. Hafez Reports Civilians, Ousted Officers Defeated

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Syria's Ba'athist government announced today it had crushed an uprising led by civilians and discharged officers.

A spokesman for Maj. Gen. Amin Hafez, strongman of the Syrian army, went on Damascus radio and declared that the revolt was finished and the situation was under control.

There was no immediate indication of the political leanings of the rebels. However, a successful coup against Syria's Ba'athist socialist government would have pleased the Arab nationalist followers of President Nasser of the United Arab Republic.

"A band of plotters consisting of a number of civilians supported by a small number of discharged military men made an abortive attempt to disturb peace in the Damascus district," Hafez said.

"This band was beaten and crushed and the rest of the elements gave up. Nothing has happened to disturb order in the other districts of Syria."

"The plotters will be turned over to the national security courts."

The dramatic announcement was broadcast after Damascus radio was strangely silent for two hours.

Diplomatic reports reaching Beirut said that tanks, automatic weapons and small arms had been in action in the capital earlier while the plotters tried to seize the army headquarters and radio station.

4 Killed, 3 Injured In Pennsylvania Crash

PITTSBURGH — Four persons were killed, including the father and two children in one family, and three other children were injured in a multiple-car collision on Route 19 in Upper St. Clair Township Wednesday night.

The dead are: Willard Gilliland, 57, of Washington County; a son, Raymond, 15; a daughter, Julia, 12, and C. E. Buente, 71, of Mt. Lebanon.

3 Americans Killed In Viet Cong Ambush

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP)—Three Americans—two Special Forces captains and a sergeant—were killed in a Viet Cong ambush today while they were distributing medical supplies to villagers in Communist-infested Binh Long Province, 70 miles north of Saigon.

Three Vietnamese men on the mission were wounded. Reports received by U.S. military authorities here said the Red guerrillas opened up with a burst of small arms fire from the roadside.

The Vietnamese driver of a jeep leading the three-vehicle convoy and another Vietnamese were hit by the first burst. Automatic weapons fire raked the other two vehicles and a grenade exploded in the second jeep, killing the American sergeant, fatally wounding the two U.S. captains and critically wounding another Vietnamese.

Bigger Than Real Thing

Busy Program To Mark Morgan Raid Centennial

Facing logistical and personnel problems that promise to be bigger than the real thing, historical societies and Civil War buffs throughout the area are preparing for a crowded program next week that will mark the centennial of the surrender of Gen. John Hunt Morgan and his Confederate cavalrymen in Columbiana County.

There will be a parade, a sham battle between "Union" and "Confederate" forces, the re-enactment of Gen. Morgan's ride across a section of the county and a program at West Grove Cemetery, near Monroeville, where two of his troopers are buried.

Groups throughout the area have been planning for months to arrange the crowded program, after "tuning up," as it were, with re-enactment of Morgan's Raid each July for the last several years.

But the program in prospect

Suspect Held For Irondale Store's Entry

Shots Fired At Pair By Village Officer; Man Nabbed Later

IRONDALE — Two men fled on foot into the darkness after being surprised in the act of burglarizing the Paisley Brothers store here at 2:35 a. m. today. A suspect was taken into custody a short time later.

Oliver Nicholson, village marshal, fired two shots at the men as they ran from the area.

Nicholson received a telephone call that someone was believed inside the building. The interior is well - lighted and the men had been spotted by a neighbor.

Nicholson found the front door ajar when he arrived. As he entered, the two men were at the rear of the store and ran out a back door.

Nicholson ran to the door and fired at the men. He said he apparently didn't hit either one.

A short time later an abandoned car was found at the rear of the railroad station here. Jefferson County sheriff deputies had been summoned to aid and were in the Conference At Moscow Holds Key

Thorny Issues Still Faced By Big Three At Nuclear Parley

MOSCOW (AP) — Success in the nuclear test ban talks in Moscow could lead to broader East-West negotiations and perhaps a summit conference this year.

This is the view of Western diplomatic experts who caution, however, that everything depends on the outcome of the test ban talks, now in their fourth day.

Negotiators of the United States, Britain and the Soviet Union still face several thorny issues.

Talk of a summit conference rose last spring. U.S. officials discounted it because no special agreement seemed possible then.

But if the Moscow conference is successful, President Kennedy, Soviet Premier Khrushchev and British Prime Minister Macmillan could well decide either to sign the test ban treaty personally or to meet soon after its signing to discuss broader disarmament and political issues.

Kennedy told a news conference in Washington Wednesday the possibility of a summit conference had not come up in the Moscow talks. If the subject is raised, he said, it would be considered.

A three-power communique issued Wednesday night after the third conference session gave the most optimistic official account of the negotiations.

It said Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko, U.S. Undersecretary of State W. Averell Harriman and British Science Minister Lord Halsham had "made progress in drafting some of the provisions of a test ban treaty covering tests in the atmosphere, outer space and under water."

An optimistic note also was sounded by Kennedy. Speaking on the basis of reports from Harriman, he said "we are still hopeful" that a limited test ban would be agreed upon.

Operators End Strike In Salem Job Dispute

YOUNGSTOWN (AP) — Telephone operators who walked out in protest of the promotion of a temporary employee at Salem were back on the job today.

Nearly 400 operators at Salem and Youngstown were away from their switchboards for more than 1½ hours Wednesday.

The employees, members of Local 4300 of the Communications Workers of America, ended their walkout after Ohio Bell Telephone Co. officials rescinded the promotion.

Arnold Martin, CWA president, said the company bypassed 75 operators in promoting the temporary worker. During the short strike, the firm said, person-to-person long distance calls were delayed, and supervisory personnel handled direct dial calls.

Driver Hurt As Truck Upsets On Slick Road

A 20-year-old Goddard Bakers Co. truck driver is in "fair" condition today at City Hospital with injuries suffered when his truck overturned along Route 168 south of Laughlins Corners this morning.

Kenneth Cochran, 20, of Mt. Acres Trailer Court suffered multiple abrasions and bruises of the neck, shoulder and back in the mishap which reportedly occurred near Kendall on wet pavement after the brakes locked.

Wall Street Calm Again After Jitters

NEW YORK (AP) — Jitters gave way to relative calm in Wall Street today as the financial capital studied searching criticism of some key stock market practices.

Presidents of the nation's two largest securities firms worked on rebuttal to an unexpectedly severe report filed with Congress by Securities and Exchange Commission investigators Wednesday.

Amid outcries of dismay from some brokers, G. Keith Funston, president of the New York Stock Exchange, held his peace. So did Edwin D. Etherington, president of the American Stock Exchange.

They said time was required to digest the 2,100-page installment of SEC inquiry findings, sequel to a milder report last April.

However, Etherington promised to voice his opinions of "ill-advised" comments in the report.

The SEC special study committee assailed several time-honored stock market practices, mostly concerned with the market's inside workings rather than activities directly touching the public.

It called for new curbs on short selling, floor traders and stock specialists, tighter supervision of trading in unlisted securities in the over-the-counter market and an improved system for handling odd-lot or small volume transactions.

To the financial community's relief, there was no blanket demand for segregating the broker and dealer functions of many Wall Street firms.

One section of the report urged elimination of floor traders by Jan. 2, 1965. It said these brokers who buy and sell for their own account, enjoy unfair advantages over others.

Of 1,366 New York Stock Exchange members, a small minority indulge in touch floor trading — quick turnover deals. Fifteen of them account for one-half the volume in this category.

The SEC said they are unbureaucratic by the need to pay commissions and favored by knowledge not yet public.

Wellsville Water Line Break Fixed By Crew

Repairs were completed Wednesday night to a broken 4-inch water main at 16th and Commerce Sts., Wellsville, according to Safety-Service Director Fred Baldasare.

The break was discovered Wednesday morning and the excavation started immediately. It was first believed the water service from 15th St. down would have to be shut off but the break was "worked under pressure," the director said. The crew cut down the pressure at the control valves and cut out a two-foot section of the pipe which was split.

The men were ready to make the repairs at 4 p. m. but waited until after supper time before reducing the pressure. Full pressure was restored by 7 p. m.

The line feeds off a 12-inch main and runs up 16th St. It probably had been frozen last winter, the crew said.

Truck Overturns

The Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon today was investigating a truck mishap at West Point in which no one apparently was injured. Officers said the truck overturned along Route 45 at the bridge.

Wireless Telegraph Station To Be A Bar

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP) — A wireless telegraph station built here 60 years ago by the distinguished American inventor, Lee De Forest, is being converted into a bar.

The station's Morse code call letters, KW, sometimes were heard by ships on the Great Lakes and on the West Coast even though one or two hundred miles was considered a good transmitting distance in those days.

Seals In Sidewalks To Mark 6 Colleges

CLAREMONT, Calif. (AP) — This city, home of six colleges, is experimenting with a plan to put ceramic seals of the colleges in its sidewalks.

The Scripps College seal, in color and about eight inches in diameter, has been embedded in the sidewalk in downtown Claremont.

City officials and George DeBeeson, who made the seal, check regularly to see how it is holding up under foot traffic. If they decide it is durable enough, they will propose that a service club undertake the project of installing all the colleges' seals.

He said the front door had been forced open with a jack handle. An outside light over the entrance was broken.

Portugal Speeds Reinforcements To Its Colonies

LISBON, Portugal (AP)—Portugal has rushed military reinforcements to its rebel-threatened African colonies, government sources said today.

A government announcement Wednesday said African revolutionists have seized control of 15 per cent of Portuguese Guinea, on Africa's west coast.

Even before the public announcement, five ships left Lisbon loaded with troops. Two of them were bound for Guinea.

The government also granted a $32 million special credit for extraordinary expenses of military forces abroad.

Genius With A Sure-Fire Future

It shouldn't take long to find out what happened to 24 million bushels of grain missing in a barter deal between the United States and Austria. That is too much bulk to have been hidden in a safety deposit box, or even a warehouse.

It might speed up the search, however, if word went out that popular acclaim awaits the genius able to make that much grain vanish. He has a sure-fire future in a country that piles up surplus grain at the rate of hundreds of millions of bushels each year—piles it on the ground, in grain elevators, in box cars on railroad sidings, in bins, cribs and holes in the ground.

Every particle of this unneeded grain adds to the depressed market for grain and aggravates the problem of subsidizing farm income. It deepens the economic scandal of paying exploiters to raise a food crop for no other reason than to clip an open-handed casual government for the guaranteed price or loan value.

Everybody who has given thought to the problem has longed for magic that would make the unneeded grain disappear. Inventors have dreamed of paving highways with it—doing anything with it except ingest it.

A genius is with us. Come forth, oh adroit one and practice your magic! While you're at it, make the butter and dried eggs disappear too.

A Good Try

It would have been interesting to learn of Gov. Barron's reaction had Chester councilmen voted to have gone to Charleston to discuss slot machines and illegal liquor sales.

Since they voted 3 to 2 not to go, the reaction will not be forthcoming.

Councilmen Chaney and Hutton, who endorsed the trip, are to be commended for seeking some form of action. Their lot may seem frustrating, but perhaps events will swing the other way in the future and their efforts will be rewarded.

Hard Way To Be A Hero

The Federal Aviation Agency has squared up the record on the heroic deeds of Ralph Flores, the amateur bush pilot who survived for 48 days in the Canadian wilds with his passenger, Helen Klaben, after his plane crashed.

FAA has revoked his license to fly an airplane, pointing out that he broke more than a dozen rules when he risked the life of a paying passenger by flying a plane in an irresponsible manner.

There would have been no accident and no life-and-death emergency to surmount with faith and heroism if pilot Flores had known what he was doing.

This has been the seamy side of the story from the beginning. Miss Klaben credited the pilot with making it possible for both of them to survive. Everything he did after the accident was commendable and admirable.

But everything he had done before the accident was shipshod, reckless, irresponsible and, in view of the fact he had a paying passenger, unforgivably dangerous.

A year's suspension under the circumstances bears a shivery resemblance to those cases in which a soft-headed judge suspends a driver's license for three weeks after a criminally irresponsible antic that would have justified suspension for life.

Another Step

The recreational aspects of the Ohio River got another shot in the arm with the announcement by the U. S. Corps of Engineers that additional work is being planned at the site of former Dam 8, which already is proving a popular spot with boaters.

The project will be another welcome phase of progressive cleanup and beautifying efforts which are underway along the river front.

Quoddy Back For A Visit

It may come to pass that one day that the dream of harnessing the tides flowing into Passamaquoddy Bay on the Maine-Canadian border will come true.

But all who have come on the scene too recently to know how this dream has worked in the dream world should be advised not to wait.

Generating electricity by impounding the water that roars into the bay at high tide and releasing it afterward is an engineering possibility. But generating electricity, despite what the great federal government seems to believe, is a commercial enterprise. It is not something men do for the fun of solving engineering problems.

This came out a generation ago when Franklin D. Roosevelt used the Passamaquoddy project as bait in his astute political campaign. Like the tree belt he envisioned on the Great Plains, it was part of the do-something image he relied on for popular appeal in those frustrating days.

It could not be proved then that the project would pay; there were more feasible ways to generate electricity. It cannot be proved now that the project would pay. It is put forth by Secretary of Interior Stewart L. Udall for purposes unknown, one of which might be to save the scalp of a Democratic senator running for re-election in Maine this year, Edmund S. Muskie.

Purely Personal

Among things that have changed in my lifetime are thunderstorms, which now are feeble imitations of the ear-busters and eye-poppers common in an era when people pulled the electric switch as a precautionary measure.

Another of my inventions has been taken over by interlopers—an auto that can do double duty as a boat. It's called "Amphicar" and is made in Germany where they make that other auto reputed to float in water.

Vietnamese Buddhist priests wanting to burn themselves to death to protest against an oppressive government supported by U.S. wealth ($2 billion so far) must get permission. Two more are scheduled to go up in flames soon.

It is ridiculous for political pundits to write as if presidential candidates turn their ambitions on and off like a water faucet. They never quit trying. I started to run for president when I was 8 and have been chugging along ever since, just like Nixon, Rocky, Romney, Goldy, Jack, Lyndon, Thurston and a million other hopefuls.

If you think Alabama's Gov. Wallace isn't trying to start something bigger than a picnic read this from his testimony in Washington: "If the tree of liberty needs refreshing by the political blood of those who ignore the heritage established for us by the founding fathers, then so be it."

The flower beds at the Twillery have more uses than ornamentation—chiefly exercise for the two dogs in residence, also a place for the Irish setter to sleep on hot nights. Come to think about it, ornamentation is the least of the uses of the flower beds at the Twillery.

Wall Street experts can't figure out why the Dow-Jones average sags on Monday. Simple. Nine out of 10 people couldn't be sold two chances for the price of one on the world's chances to survive, on Blue Monday. Tremulous Tuesday isn't much better but by Wishful Wednesday things are beginning to look up.

It would be interesting to see a list of situations in which "political influence" was exerted for the benefit of the public, to offset the impression that "political influence" always is bad. It isn't, is it? Well, isn't it? Somebody say something!

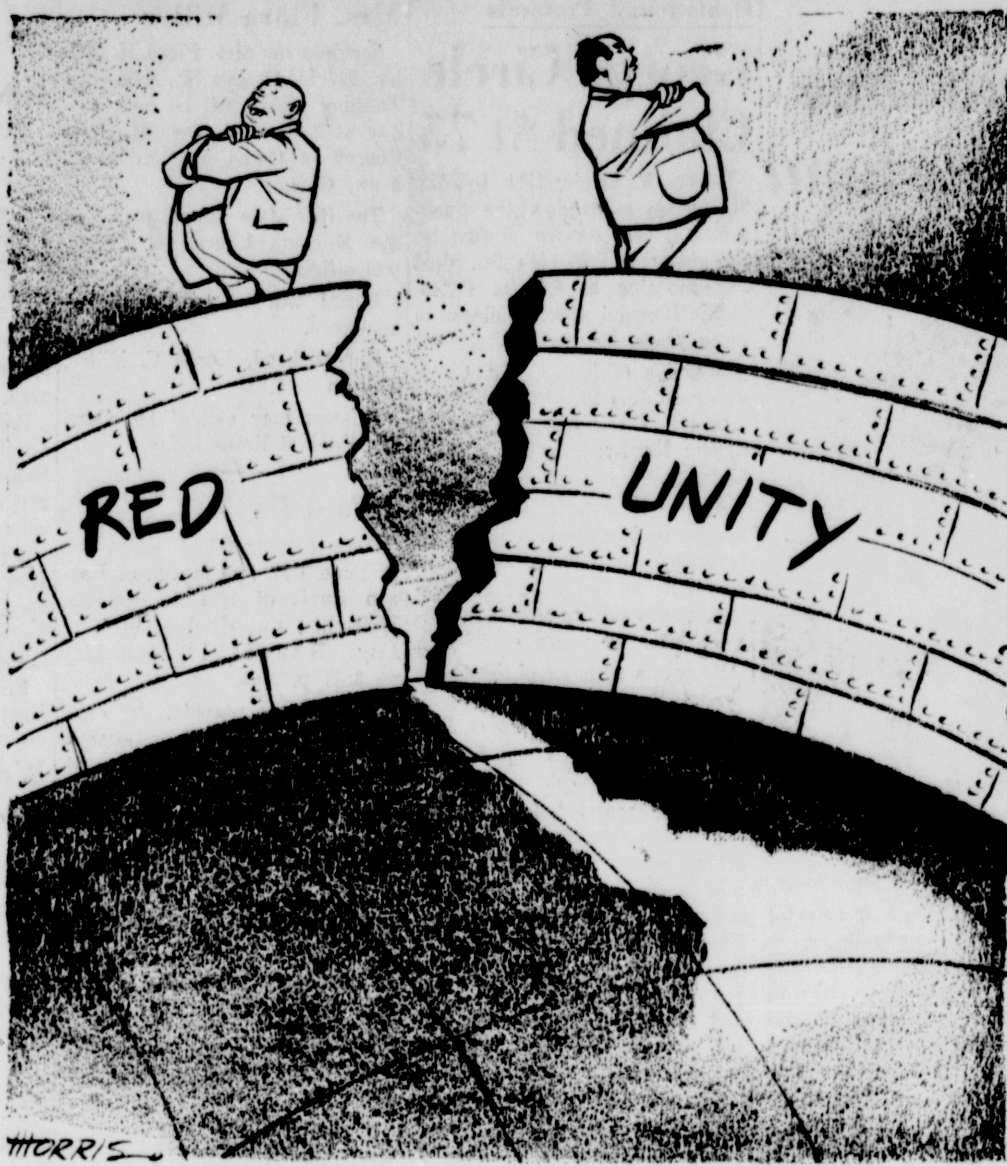

I get a funny feeling right here when pub-

Who'd Ever Have Thought It!

Defense-Economy Link Explained

Much of the nation's economy is tied to the Department of Defense, for it is the country's biggest employer. It's chief, Robert McNamara, has been much in the news. He was asked by Victor Riesel to discuss the economic aspect of his vast department. His frank reply follows.

By ROBERT S. McNAMARA
Secretary of Defense

The Department of Defense is responsible for spending nearly 10 per cent of the national income of this country. It employs 3.7 million Americans directly, in and out of uniform, and millions more indirectly in every aspect of our economic life.

It absorbs more than half of every tax dollar, as it has done for more than a decade. This unavoidably vast establishment exists for one purpose and one purpose only: to act as the servant of United States foreign policy.

Our responsibility is to provide this nation with the means to safeguard its legitimate interests and to meet its commitments at home and around the world.

TWO POINTS seem to me axiomatic. The first is that, at least within any range of defense spending that is likely to appear at all desirable in the foreseeable future, the United States is well able to spend whatever it needs to spend on national security.

The second point is that this ability does not excuse us from applying strict standards of effectiveness and efficiency to the way we spend our defense dollars.

The facts are that national security in these times cannot be purchased by military spending alone, on however generous a scale, and that the task of assuring that our military spending truly serves the national interest is more complicated than it has ever been in the past. And more urgent.

The test we have to apply, over and over again, is whether a particular expenditure for a specific purpose is really in our national interest.

When we took office, we saw three major tasks before us.

First, we had to accelerate the strengthening of our strategic nuclear force, a task which involves not merely increases in the size of the force, but major improvements in its survivability and in the provisions to maintain responsible command and control at all times.

Second, major increases in our non-nuclear capabilities were urgently needed.

The third major effort involves a broad effort to improve the effectiveness and efficiency of the defense establishment.

THE FIRST and most important thing to notice about the effort in this area is what it is not. It is not an effort to save dollars at the expense of military effectiveness.

What we are trying to do can be divided into two parts: the first is essentially a series of management reforms of the kind you will find in any well-run organization, an effort which is in large part covered by the formal Five Year Cost Reduction Program we set up in July 1962.

The second, and really the more important, part of the effort does bear directly on military effectiveness. For example, we found that the three military departments had been establishing their requirements independently of each other.

What we needed was a coordinated strategy seeking objectives actually attainable with the military resources available. We are moving with all reasonable speed towards a properly balanced force structure.

There is an important difference between the way we make decisions today, and the way they used to be made.

FORMERLY, an arbitrary budget ceiling was fixed for national defense, and funds were then apportioned among the services.

Today we examine all our military needs, and then decide at what point our military strength is in balance with the requirements of our foreign policy.

As a practical matter, however it is important to consider a variety of alternative policies, at the end we must have one defense policy, not three conflicting defense policies. And it is the job of the secretary and his staff to make sure that this is the case, just as it is the job of the President to see that we have one national security policy, and not a series of conflicting policies in the State Department, the Treasury, the Defense Department, and so forth.

THERE IS NOTHING innately desirable about centralization. But the fact remains that when national security decisions affect broad interests they must be made from a central point, not from subordinate points.

The secretary of defense — and I am talking about any secretary of defense — must make certain kinds of decisions, not because he presumes his judgment to be superior to his advisors, military or civilian, but because his position is the best place from which to make those decisions.

At heart the problem comes down, always, to the same questions: What really is in our national interest? What will help this country to play the role we want it to play in this terribly critical period of the world's history?

We are interested in saving money, in alleviating economic hardships from base closings and the like, in sound military-civilian relations, in the whole range of issues which tend to dominate the headlines. But the national interest towers above them all, and it's the national interest, above all, that we seek to serve.

In 1955, Chairman Lewis Strauss of the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission threw a switch and sent the first atomic-generated electricity coursing through the lines of a private utility.

Silence On Potomac

Red Role In Racial Unrest Seen Doubtful

The Kennedy administration is returning blank stares when asked about Mississippi Gov. Ross Barnett's charge that racial demonstrations are "Communist-inspired."

"No comment," says the fact-turn Federal Bureau of Investigation, whose job it is to know such things.

"No comment," says the White House.

The reasons for this response are not hard to imagine.

For one thing, Gov. Barnett told the Senate Commerce Committee that President Kennedy and his brother, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, were "sowing the seeds of hate and violence" by their pro-civil rights activities. To engage in a public shouting-match with the Mississippi governor, who already has tangled with the President and the attorney-general over enrollment at "Ole Miss" of Negro veteran James H. Meredith, could only aggravate an already-inflamed situation.

The administration also is unwilling to "dignify" segregationist Gov. Barnett's charge of Communist inspiration of the sit-in, kneel-in and pray-in demonstrations by publicly commenting on it.

ANOTHER POINT is that Gov. Barnett still is facing contempt of court charges stemming from his effort to block Mr. Meredith's court backed enrollment last fall. Washington would prefer to keep its thoughts about Gov. Barnett to itself, at least until final disposition of the case.

There is, however, a measure of indignation in the government here over the bespectacled Mississippi's suggestion that pro-civil rights people were aiding the "Communist conspiracy" by causing unrest. A counter-argument is instantly put forth: why not say that the anti-civil rights people, by their resistance to Negro demands, are playing the Communist game?

Both arguments are pooh-poohed around the Capital.

But after all this is said, there remains the question of the Communist role in America's racial strife. Is there any? And if there is, what is it?

Authoritative sources say this: Through the years it has become evident that Communism feeds on social unrest. All round the world, Communist agents and party members exploit dissidence, help it along when they can.

But this does not necessarily mean that Communists always are at the bottom of such unrest.

In the American racial struggle, the conditions—widespread segregation, discrimination, Negro joblessness and the like—exist. The Negro's own efforts to right these wrongs, often against die-hard segregationist resistance, explode into headlines around the country.

THE AMERICAN Communist party is very much interested in such racial agitation, of course, but, in fact, has had little success in egging it on. There is no need. The demonstrations and the rioting caused by the clash of white segregationists and Negro integrationists are getting along without Communist abetting.

Nevertheless, the Communist party in this country has dispatched people to carry placards in integrationist picket lines whenever it can do so without objection from Negro groups.

Leaders of such Negro organizations as the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, the Congress of Racial Equality and Rev. Martin Luther King's Southern Christian Leadership Council want no Communists in their ranks. They have said so repeatedly and have actually removed Communists from their movements.

Yet they are under pressure from the nation's 20 million Negroes to keep the integration ball rolling and must welcome whatever help they can get—provided it is not labeled "communist."

In the depression years, there was plenty of unrest for the Communist party to exploit here — the Bonus Marchers — the millions of ragged unemployed, the image of Big Business grinding down the little man. With the relative prosperity since the war, however, such fertile ground has been removed.

The racial unrest of the past few years, therefore, looms as the only social movement of consequence to which the Communist party can attach itself. But it has had little success in doing so, although some Communist officials have made speeches to college groups supporting the Negro's cause.

THE FBI is understood to have checked the leading U.S. Negro groups to determine whether Communist infiltration has taken place. The investigation showed that none had.

Nor is there any indication that Communist money is being funneled into the treasuries of CORE, NAACP or other such movements.

Thus, this picture emerges: the Communists would like to exploit the unrest which already exists here because of long-standing grievances of the Negroes, but they are unable to do so to any degree.

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:

One of the leading business concerns in the city and the surrounding area is responsible for one of the greatest eyesores in the whole city of East Liverpool. The Hall China Co. has made a "dump" on one of the state routes leading through the city.

Yes, some day just go down Pennsylvania Ave. where you will find a rat-infested dump with its plagues and unsanitary conditions. This dump is just as sure a disgrace to our community as anything could be.

Those are not medieval times. We are living in a modern space age and we have modern conveniences never dreamed of before this century. However, when such an eyesore can attract attention as well as this, I feel that action should be taken to relieve us of this distraction and rebellion to modern sanitation.

I think that something should be done to dispose of the "dump" (along with the rats) so the people of Pennsylvania Ave. and the citizens of East Liverpool can begin to enjoy their city once more.

Man's Efforts In Vain To Save Brother's Life

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)—A man tried in vain Wednesday to rescue his brother, who was killed by electric shock after a crane boom touched an 8,300-volt power line.

Paul De Niro, 43, of Austintown died after the mishap on Ohio 18 near the Niles-Youngstown exit of the Ohio Turnpike. The victim's brother, Carl, 33, was hospitalized in fair condition with burns.

The brothers, owners of the De-Niro Construction Co., were installing a water line. Workmen said they yelled to the brothers to stay in the cab after the boom hit the wire. Paul stepped down from the cab, then crumbled against it. Carl, who leaped down to drag away his brother, was burned.

Attorney Denies Any Connection With Bogus Bills

CLEVELAND (AP)—A Youngstown attorney accused of helping circulate counterfeit $10 bills in the Youngstown area last winter has denied under oath that he had any connection with the bogus-bill operation.

Vincent P. Serman, 37, who has practiced law in Youngstown 11

Serman, Nick Zappia, 48, of Youngstown and Lenine Strollo, 31 of Campbell are on trial before U.S. District Court Judge Girard E. Kalbfleisch. They were indicted on charges of participating in the counterfeit ring, which government attorneys said circulated some $60,000 worth of fake $10 bills.

2 Given Fines By City Judge On Beer Sale

A bartender was fined $100 and costs and given a suspended 90-day jail term today in Municipal Court after being convicted on a charge of selling intoxicating liquor to a minor under 21, and an 18-year-old youth, who admitted purchasing two bottles of high-powered beer, was fined $25 and costs.

The fine and jail term were handed Joseph Slager of 1st St., Newell, a bartender at the Shamrock Grill on E. 6th St., but Judge Samuel M. Chertoff suspended the jail sentence pending Slager's good behavior.

Judge Chertoff also fined Gilbert Vernon Reed Jr., 18, of the YMCA, who had pleaded guilty to a count of purchasing the beer early on July 11.

The sentences were meted out following a trial for Slager, at which Reed and Patrolman Paul E. Carter, the arresting officer, testified for the state and Slager took the stand in his own behalf.

In his testimony, Reed said he entered the Shamrock about 2:30 a. m. and asked "for a couple of cold beers to go." He identified Slager as the man who sold him the beer but said Slager didn't ask for any identification or proof of age.

Slager admitted selling the beer but testified that Reed produced a card showing his age as 21. The bartender said he was not certain what type of card Reed showed him because he concentrated on the age. Reed did not ask for 3.2 beer, Slager added.

"Some tavern owners are pretty lax on their operation," Judge Chertoff said. "There's no excuse for anyone putting their business and license in jeopardy for a couple of bottles of beer. If there's the least doubt about the age of the customer, all you have to say is 'Out!'", he continued.

When Judge Chertoff pointed out the maximum penalty is $25 to $300 fine and six months in jail, Asst. Solicitor Richard J. Clark commented: "I don't believe it's such a tremendous violation that the maximum penalty is needed."

Atty. George Aronson, who represented Slager, pointed out the defendant never has been in trouble previously.

Combined Picnic Held For 5 Clubs In Lisbon

LISBON — Over 100 attended the combined inter-club picnic held Wednesday at Whinnery's Landing at Guilford Lake.

Women of the Christian Church served 101, including members of the Kiwanis, Lions and Rotary Clubs, the Junior Chamber of Commerce and Ruritans, the host club.

Games and golf comprised the afternoon program. Floyd Lower asked the service clubs to take as their combined project the study of the industrial situation in the Lisbon area.

Essel Hadley was named chairman of the combined committee for the project. The Ruritans won the J.C.'s plaque for the largest representation at the picnic.

Truck Driver Fined In Crash Aftermath

Wallace D. Goodale of Mound, Minn., driver of a tractor-trailer rig involved in a crash with a Pleasant Heights woman's auto on July 10 at Walnut St. and Bradshaw Ave., was fined $25 and costs today in Municipal Court on a charge of "starting a motor vehicle, which was stopped, standing or parked, when such movements could not be made with reasonable safety."

Represented by Atty. George Aronson, Goodale pleaded "no contest." Patrolman Jerry Adkins, the investigating officer, and Mrs. Loretta Jo Ludwig of Myler Park Rd., driver of the auto, testified briefly to the circumstances.

Thieves Take Money From Bowling Lanes

HANOVERTON — An undetermined amount of money was taken from coin-operated cigarette, beverage and bowling ball cleaning machines at the Forest Lanes Bowling Alley early today, Hanover Constable Roy Painter reported.

Thieves pried open a rear door to enter, and broke open the machines to get the money. Some candy and chewing gum also were taken, Mike Stepanic and George Stepanic, co-owners of the lanes between Hanoverton and Kennington, reported.

His Fishing Technique Is 'For The Birds'

KEY WEST, Fla. — Gamey Maxwell's fishing technique is for the birds.

The Key West fishing guide baited a hook for a customer and cast toward a school of tarpon. Before the bait reached the water, a pelican swooped down and took it.

Firmly snagged, the big bird was landed, relieved of the hook and released.

Viet Nam Police Raid Buddhists' Pagoda, Take 3

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — Government police crossed their own barbed-wire barricades today and raided a Buddhist pagoda packed with 400 monks, nuns and their followers. The police carried away three Buddhists.

Buddhists took refuge in the Giac Minh pagoda after police broke up a demonstration Wednesday with clubs, rifle butts and kicks. American security officers said the police acted with deliberate brutality which shocked and disgusted them.

President Kennedy expressed hope at his news conference for strife between the government of President Ngo Dinh Diem, a Roman Catholic, and the Buddhists. The Buddhists accuse the government of religious persecution.

A threatened Buddhist demonstration outside the U.S. embassy failed to materialize by mid-morning.

Seventy policemen raided the pagoda as police reinforcements took positions throughout Saigon. Barbed wire and police guards kept the Buddhists from leaving the building.

American intelligence agents watched the proceedings from a distance.

2 Truck Drivers Save Man, Wife In Flood Area

CLEVELAND, Tenn. — Two long-distance truck drivers for a stove manufacturing firm (Mag-Chief) are credited with saving the lives of a man and wife in a flash flood on an Alabama highway.

Robert T. Dill, 36, of Cleveland and Charles McNabb, 34, of Athens, Tenn., were praised in a letter to company officials from Ernest Thurman. Thurman said he and his wife were trapped in a flash flood which swirled around their car on U.S. Highway 11 near Fort Payne, Ala.

"My wife and I could easily have lost our lives," wrote Thurman. "The water kept rising until it covered our lights which we had used to signal for help."

Just when things looked blackest, Thurman wrote, McNabb and Dill drove along and took Mr. and Mrs. Thurman to safety. The flood waters continued to rise, he wrote, completely submerging the car.

2,500 High School Pupils Mob Kennedy

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy was mobbed today—in his own back yard—by more than 2,500 high school students from 56 countries who converged on him in hopes of a handshake or autograph.

Kennedy took a severe buffeting, as the youngsters pushed and shoved to get to his side after clambering over and around rope barriers.

Secret service agents and White House police had to use elbows and shoulders in a not-too-gentle struggle to keep the crowd from knocking the President down and possibly causing a new injury to his weak back.

One White House policeman, Lt. Edward Teehan, collapsed while trying to control the mob and was carried into the Cabinet room by two officers.

Rear Adm. George Burkley, assistant White House physician, administered first aid. Teehan revived and later seemed to have made a quick recovery.

The mob scene erupted on the south lawn of the White House after Kennedy addressed the cheering, singing students, who soon will return to their homelands after spending a year in American high schools under an American field service exchange program.

County Pair Competes In 4-H Safety Contest

LISBON — Mary Beth Averill of Summit County and Robert Stroup of Portage County were named winners of a district 4-H safety speaking contest Wednesday at Leroy.

Columbiana County's representatives — Carolyn Fitzsimmons of the New Waterford Peppy Pals and Jim Miller of the Fairfield Junior Farmers — were among the 16 contestants.

The two winners will compete in the state contest Sept. 16 at the 4-H Club Congress at Columbus.

Wayne Nelson, director of the Ohio Department of Highway Safety, spoke on the department's programs.

Dock Worker Killed In Fork Lift Mishap

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — A 39-year-old dock worker was killed early today when a fork lift he was operating fell off a dock at the A.C.E. Freight, Inc., terminal in Northfield.

The victim was identified as Lawrence Sellers, of Eastlake, who was crushed beneath the machine.

Injured In Fall

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Regis Papania, 43, of Pittsburgh, was in critical condition at Barberton Citizens Hospital today with injuries suffered in a 70-foot fall at the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co., chemical division plant in Barberton. He was injured Wednesday when he fell from a scaffold while sandblasting a silo.

Morgan Raid Events Slated

Rebel soldiers. A musical unit is expected to play "Dixie."

Area historians said it will be the first time a salute has been fired over the Confederate's graves.

The Stonewall Jackson unit has been asked to bring a Confederate marker for the graves, which are now marked by a headstone placed in the early 1900's by the East Liverpool Morning Tribune and another marker placed by the Grand Army of the Republic.

Three men who serve as the "Confederate High Command" in Civil War observances also are expected to attend. They are Gen. Donald S. Ramsey of Nashville, Tenn., Maj. Gen. Hal R. Swann Jr. and Maj. Gen. M. Hume Parks.

Also scheduled for July 27 is the retracing of Gen. Morgan's ride of 15 to 16 miles. Beginning in Salineville and following unsurfaced roads, mostly along Beaver Creek, it will retrace the route taken by Maj. George Rhue of the 9th Kentucky Cavalry of the Union Army.

The riders will go to the Morgan Surrender Monument near West Point, where the surrender of Gen. Morgan and the remnants of his 2nd Kentucky Cavalry will be re-enacted.

A "battle" between the Union and Confederate forces will be staged Sunday, July 28, at 2 p. m. at the Morgan Monument, which is on State Route 518 about midway between Gavers and West Point.

Some 600 to 1,000 "troops" are expected to participate, along with 50 artillery pieces and 50 horsemen.

They will parade off the field following the sham conflict.

The park will be closed for the day and the road will be blocked before and after the battle. In the preliminaries, a flag will be presented by Rebecca Griscom Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution.

In the morning, a commemorative service will be held at the West Beaver United Presbyterian Church for Protestant "troops" and those of the Catholic faith will attend rites at the West Point and Dunganon Catholic churches. The West Beaver Church, used as a hospital at the time of the raid, will be used again as a hospital for first aid during the program July 28.

As souvenirs and to help finance expenses, the Wellsville Historical Society is selling cacheted envelopes, "Confederate Invasion Money" bearing a picture of the train, "The General," and Gen. Morgan on one side and the Whitacre House and Morgan's Monument on the other. Commemorative plates also are being sold.

According to Edwin Pugh, chairman, Gettysburg commemorative stamps are being secured and any collectors desiring cacheted envelopes with the special stamps, Centennial cancellation and stuffers mailed out by July 26 may procure them for 15 cents or two for 25 cents by sending their request to Louella Thompson, treasurer, Box 101, Wellsville.

"Smooth Puss" badges for those not wearing a beard and "Beautiful Babe" badges for women wearing cosmetics are being sold by members of the Wellsville Historical Society and veterans' organizations.

How Can I? By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. What is the covering area of a gallon of whitewash?

A. A gallon of whitewash will usually cover about 225 square feet of wood, 180 square feet of brick, and about 270 square feet of plaster.

Q. How can I freshen a pair of suede gloves?

A. An easy way is to put the gloves on, then rub a thick slice of stale bread between the hands, changing the bread as it becomes soiled.

Q. What can I do about some of my stairs which have developed some annoying creaks?

A. Try driving pairs of two-inch finishing nails through the tread (top of the step) into the riser (the vertical board between the steps). Angle your nails in each pair slightly toward each other, "V" shaped, so that they will be less likely to pull out.

Q. How can I flatten out a warped record?

A. Place the record between two sheets of glass and allow to set in the sun. The heat will soften the disk and the weight of the glass will flatten it back into shape.

Q. How can I remove white stains on furniture, caused by alcohol (whisky, perfume, rubbing alcohol, and the like)?

A. Wrap a clean cloth around your finger, wet the tip of it with turpentine, dip this into some cigarette ashes, then rub the stain with a circular motion. Follow this treatment with a good polishing.

Q. Please suggest a good leather beautifier.

A. Luggage, belts, chairs, and plain kid-leather shoes can be kept new-looking and clean by rubbing them with egg whites beaten to stiffness.

Q. How can I get more "mileage" from my sandpaper?

A. Brush it with a stiff, dry scrubbing brush when the surface of the paper becomes clogged with powdered wood or paint. After a good brushing, you'll find the sandpaper will "cut" again.

Negroes Slate New Marches In Charleston, S.C.

CHARLESTON, S.C. (AP) — Two mass meetings were scheduled today as Negroes prepared to re-new street demonstrations despite the presence of state troops sent in by Gov. Donald Russell.

Leaders of the Charleston movement were greeted with cheers when they vowed at a meeting Wednesday night to continue demonstrations for a 10-point desegregation program.

They called for nonviolent action and denied that members of their NAACP-sponsored movement were responsible for Tuesday night's outbreak when six policemen and a fireman were hurt.

The 1,000 Negroes who packed Tabernacle Baptist Church dispersed quietly after the Rev. B.J. Glover, a leader in the movement, urged them to go home immediately.

Police cars circled the church almost bumper-to-bumper during the mass meeting.

The only trouble reported Wednesday night was the smashing of a dozen automobile windows, reportedly by Negro youths.

Gov. Wallace Unveils New Plan In Schools

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Gov. George Wallace has unveiled a new plan to try to maintain separation of the races if any Alabama school is forced to integrate: separate white and Negro classrooms in the same school.

If that system fails, he said, he favors as a last resort the segregation of pupils by sex — boys in one school, girls in another.

Wallace said Wednesday that bills to carry out these proposals are being drafted for action by the current session of the state legislature.

Soaking Termed Cure For Brown Places On Lawn

Parched lawns in the area should be wet down to at least six inches in depth with not less than one inch of water applied at a time in order to remove the brown spots, according to Oliver Johnson, Hancock County agricultural agent.

This generally means watering once a week during July and August, Johnson said.

Lawns turn brown because of low moisture. Homeowners have two alternatives — add water or dig out the present soil at an appropriate time, remove rock and gravel, and replace with soil with high organic content, Johnson said. He warned that the second method is not always advisable or practical.

"Excessive heat or dryness also will cause tomato leaves to curl," Johnson said. "Once they do, they seldom flatten out. It's not a disease, but a sign the plant was unable to draw moisture up through the root system as fast as the leaf surface needed it to pass it off through the pores to keep the tissue from drying out from evaporation."

Johnson also reported that the little blue bird, the "Indigo Bunting," is abundant everywhere in the area this year. "He sings incessantly, somewhat like the housewren," he said.

Bennett surrendered voluntarily to police this morning, Police Capt. Robert H. Pyle, acting chief, said. Warrants for Bennett's arrest had been turned over to Alliance police and the Portage County sheriff's office, Capt. Pyle said.

Police conducted a widespread search for Bennett immediately after the robbery but were unable to locate him. The warrants then were secured and sent to the two other police agencies.

By Phone Call From Kennedy Ike's Brother Was Mixed Up In Amazing Incident

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
NEW YORK (AP) — An unexpected telephone call from President Kennedy involved Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower in "one of the most amazing and muddled incidents in the history of inter-American affairs," the former president's brother says.

Dr. Eisenhower's book, "The Wine Is Bitter: The United States and Latin America," published by Doubleday, relates a sequel to the Bay of Pigs invasion of Cuba. He calls the episode "the most exasperating, frustrating and enervating six weeks of my life."

The story concerns the attempt to liberate Cuban invasion prisoners in return for $3 - million worth of tractors. Eventually, a year and a half later, the cost was 20 times that much in medical supplies. Dr. Eisenhower intimates the episode nearly brought disaster on U.S. prestige.

"Fortunately," he writes, "the terrible mistakes made in the Cuban invasion and the clumsy fumbling displayed in the tractors for prisoners deal have not characterized other efforts of the Kennedy administration in the Latin-American area. The moment that President Kennedy called in the ambassadors of the Latin-American republics to the White House early in 1961 to formulate an Alliance for Progress our efforts to seek justice for the underprivileged of Latin American through collective action have been constantly and earnestly pursued."

Most of the book concerns Dr. Eisenhower's observations as special Latin-American ambassador for President Eisenhower. But a chapter is devoted to the tractors

Kennedy

We have no evidence that the demonstrations are Communist-inspired. I think it is a convenient scapegoat to suggest that all the difficulties are Communist."

Kennedy said those who complain about organized protests should "do something about the grievances" that prompt them. He suggested it is illogical to say, "don't protest," and at the same time assert, "We are not going to let you come into a store or a restaurant."

He said he sees the situation as "a two-way street."

As for the Washington demonstration, scheduled for Aug. 28, Kennedy said it shapes up as "a peaceful assembly calling for a redress of grievances" and undertaken through cooperation with the police.

Kennedy said "this is not a march on the Capitol" — something he suggested earlier would harm the cause of civil rights advocates.

In promising to be in the capital at the time, Kennedy added what amounted to a challenge to Congress by adding, "I am sure members of Congress will be here."

There has been some talk that the legislators might take a long Labor Day holiday — starting in late August.

Kennedy contrasted the planned Washington demonstration with those now in progress at Cambridge, Md., where there has been rioting and bloodshed.

Speaking of Cambridge, he said: "They have almost lost sight of what the demonstration is about."

In such cases, he said, "I think the cause of advancing equal opportunities only loses."

On other topics, Kennedy said: There is no need for more formal diplomatic contacts with the Vatican because there is no lack of two-way communication at present.

He hopes South Viet Nam will resolve its religious disputes because the military situation there looks more hopeful and a stable government is needed.

A trip to the Far East is something the President would like to undertake but he expects to be busy enough at home for some months.

Demonstrators Clash With Chicago Police

CHICAGO (AP) — Civil rights demonstrators protesting what they call de facto segregation of Chicago's public schools clashed with police Wednesday at the Board of Education building.

Three demonstrators, who broke through a shoulder-to-shoulder line of policemen in an attempt to re-enter the building to continue a sit-in, were arrested.

Police barred the way at the request of a Board of Education official, who later agreed to let some of the demonstrators back inside.

The 10-year-old daughter of a Negro demonstrator was hurt slightly in the surging crowd and four policemen suffered minor cuts and bruises.

To speak in hyperbole is to speak in exaggeration for the sake of emphasis.

How Can I?
By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I remove mildew stains from white cottons or linens?
A. A bath in hot, sudsy water may remove these stains, if they are fresh. If not, apply lemon juice and salt, and place the article in direct sunlight. Use only warm, sudsy water on colored articles.

Q. How can I improve shoe polish when I've run out of the real thing?
A. Ordinary paste floor wax works very well. And it can be used on light or dark shoes, because of the neutral color of the wax.

Q. How can I clean plaster-of-paris statuary?
A. Mix a wet and gooey paste of starch and water, and spread this over all parts of the surface until it is well covered. Then wait until the paste has dried completely, and brush it off.

Q. How can I make for more smoothness and glossiness when ironing starched pieces?
A. By stirring your starch three or four times while boiling with a paraffin candle.

Development Planned
Western Beaver Group Will Elect

The Western Beaver County Area Development Committee Tuesday night appointed a "working committee" to draw up a framework for the organization and to act as a nominating committee for the election of officers.

About 15 attended the meeting held at the McGeehan Agency in Midland. Marvin Bahm, member of the area development committee of the Midland Area Chamber of Commerce, presided.

A committee of two representatives from each borough or township has been asked to meet Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. at the Ohioville Borough Building to discuss plans for the organization.

According to a suggestion by Clarence W. Turner, community development representative of the Duquesne Light Co., the committee will outline various short- and long-range plans for the citizens' group, including open space and recreation, water, schools, industrial development and the improvement of present assets to benefit regional planning.

Robert Zapsic, executive director of both the Beaver County Planning Commission and the Beaver County Industrial Development Corp., will explain to the committee the formation of a regional planning commission.

THE GROUP set Aug. 20 for the next general meeting, when the committee will report its slate of officers and recommendations on goals. The meeting will be held at the McGeehan Agency.

Area representatives who have volunteered thus far for the committee are Councilman Louis Poff and John Joseph of Ohioville Borough, Ernest Gengarella and a councilman to be named yet for Midland, Councilmen Gerald Rogers and John Coombs of Shippingsport and Councilman William Ralph and Clyde Knight of James McGhee of the Planning Commission, for industry.

AT THE request of the group, Zapsic was asked to notify Glasgow, Georgetown and Hookstown Boroughs and Greene Township to send two representatives each to the meeting next Tuesday.

According to Zapsic, the group could function best with a separate regional planning — but discussion disclosed that this might give control of the commission to the politicians and be contrary to the idea that such a commission should be only one of several committees, all under the direction of the larger citizens group.

A MOVIE, "Give and Go," produced by the Department of Internal Affairs, was brought by Zapsic and screened for the group. It explained how three communities were able to get together and solve their mutual needs and problems.

Attending the meeting were Louis Poff, John Joseph and Council President, George Daniels Jr., all of Ohioville, Council President William Vinovich and Dr. Zavel Sigal, planning commission chairman, both of Midland, Clyde Knight and William Ralph, both of industry.

Mrs. R. D. Paisley, editor and publisher of The Midland News, Councilman John Coombs of Shippingsport, Fred G. Wilton, Ernest Gengarella, Marvin Bahm and Earl Rankin, executive secretary, all of the Midland Chamber, and Zapsic and Turner.

Coroner Reopens Inquest Into Marvin Gold's Death

CLEVELAND (AP) — Coroner Samuel R. Gerber recessed his inquest into the death of Mervin L. Gold today after two witnesses provided little to add to the meager information gleaned from half a dozen witnesses Wednesday.

Dr. Gerber made another public plea for information that might aid authorities investigating the sensational slaying.

"In view of the answers given by some witnesses," the coroner declared, "it is apparent they are not interested in seeing a solution to the Mervin Gold killing."

The coroner attacked the manner in which two prime witnesses used the Fifth Amendment, declaring that "the founding fathers never contemplated that the Fifth Amendment be taken advantage of under these conditions."

He said he feels certain "there must be some people in this county who have information concerning the activities of Alex (Shondor) Birns or Mervin Gold."

Promising that names of informants would "not be bandied around unnecessarily," he urged that they contact authorities with any information they may have.

The uncooperative witnesses the coroner referred to include Birns and a school teacher friend he says he was with the night of July 5, when Gold was brutally slain. Both invoked the Fifth Amendment repeatedly under questioning.

Final witnesses today were Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Kandrak, who run a steak house where Birns had dinner late the evening of July 5.

After testifying, the couple went to central police station to look at file photographs in an effort to identify two men they said accompanied Birns to their cafe on one occasion within the past five weeks.

Generally the information provided by witnesses who were cooperative merely duplicated that given previously. Mrs. Lily Gold, 29, widow of the 33-year-old former cab driver whose manipulations with big money brought him two federal court convictions earlier this year, told how her husband left their home late the evening of July 5 to see Birns.

100 Attend Chamber River Cruise, Picnic

More than 100 participated Wednesday afternoon in a Chamber of Commerce pleasure boat cruise on the Ohio River, followed by a picnic on Babb's Island.

The crowd included 72 Chamber members and their wives and 30 Members of the Ohio Valley and East Liverpool Boat Clubs, which furnished the small craft for the cruise. The outing was arranged by the Chamber's civic and community affairs committee.

The group embarked about 3:30 p. m. from the East Liverpool Boat Club dock at the foot of Ferry Rd., Chester. The cruise covered the riverfront from the mouth of Beaver Creek to a point above Wellsville. The catered picnic followed on the island.

4 In 2 Autos Hurt Slightly

Four Beaver Falls residents received minor injuries in a two-car collision near Fredericktown and a Glenmoor driver was cited after a crash on Route 267 in two of three district traffic mishaps Wednesday.

The Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon said cars driven by Richard O'Laughlin, 24, of Beaver Falls and Charles W. Murray, 18, of Beaver Falls sideswiped on Township Rd. 1044 a third of a mile east of Fredericktown at 4:25 p. m.

O'Laughlin suffered abrasions of the arm and knees and two passengers — Richard Lehi, 25, and Harold Rigby, 38, both of Beaver Falls — received bruised foreheads.

Murray suffered a bruised knee. None required treatment, the patrol said. Murray was headed east and O'Laughlin west when their autos collided on a curve. O'Laughlin was charged with driving left of center.

John Mahoney, 39, of Melbourne Ave. was cited for failure to yield the right-of-way after a collision on Route 267 and the Cannons Mills Rd. at 5 p. m.

The patrol said Mahoney was headed east on the Cannons Mills Rd. and Betty Burchfield, 19, of Toronto was driving south on Route 267 when the autos collided, causing moderate damage. No one was injured, the patrol added.

David Phillis, 17, of Salem R.D. 3 and Albert Groesbeck, 50, of Warren escaped injury when their cars collided on Route 45 about two miles south of Salem at 10:50 p. m. Groesbeck attempted to pass the youth as Phillis made a left turn, the patrol said.

2 Men Dive 60 Feet From Bridge On Bet

Dietz said he and Parris would have their cars washed for a month by a friend who made the bet.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruise —

Dear Heloise: I throw my metal brush hair curlers in hot suds and swish them around and rinse them well. I dry them in the hot sun on a newspaper. And let's remember, we use these between shampoos when our hair is not perfectly clean and germ-free, so do not put them into freshly washed hair unless they are clean.

If your hair dries out before it gets all rolled up, run the curler under water and then use it. It's easier than rewetting the hair.

And, dear Heloise, I use mole skin (ladies, it's a type of plaster such as we use for corns on our feet and can be bought at any drug store) and attach pieces to the bottom of my vases, ash trays, and any items that are likely to slide across a vanished or painted surface, and it prevents damage to furniture.

I also stick some on the bottom of those irksome metal containers that are apt to put rust rings in cupboards, or on shelves.

MRS. MITCHELL.

DEAR HELOISE: I have often wondered what to do with angel, sponge and similar cakes and cookies that are leftover and dried out.

I have learned that these leftovers are wonderful when used to make your own ice cream sandwiches.

I let the ice cream melt slightly and place a gob between two cookies, mash them together and wrap them in foil and put in the deep freeze — then use them for frozen deserts and snacks. Wonderful.

MRS. M. O.

You're wonderful. And think how much the kids will love this and how much time and energy it's going to save mothers this summer. Bless you.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: I'm probably the only honest woman among your millions of readers. I love to gossip. I don't like nasty gossip ... I just like to know what's going on. Am I abnormal?

HELEN G.

We get many letters like yours. You're completely normal.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: I put strips of masking tape on the under side of our throw rugs. This keeps them from slipping.

It also keeps my rugs from wrinkling, especially if two or three of the strips of the tape have been twisted completely over (leaving sticky portions) so they will adhere to the tile.

H.L.F.

DEAR HELOISE: Since it is air that usually darkens silver, polish those forks, knives and spoons that you don't use everyday, put them in large fruit jars, and seal with a screw top.

Your silver will always be bright, and you can see what you are reaching for ... also you can save many a precious minute ordinarily needed to unwrap silver ... let alone clean it.

MRS. C. C. ECKDAHL.

DEAR HELOISE: Is it true that you can add a lump of sugar to olive oil and it will prevent it from going rancid?

S. L. W.

I don't know. Does anyone? Write to Heloise if you have the answer. We sure would like a reply!

They will be assisted by a registered nurse and eight counselors yet to be named.

Tentative plans call for the camp to last throughout August, depending upon the response of parents of the retarded to the camp.

Each camping day will last from 9 a.m. until 3 p.m. There will be swimming from 9:15 until 11:30 a.m. A picnic type lunch will be served from 11:30 until 12:30. A rest period for the younger and more involved campers will be held following lunch.

In addition to the swimming, camp crafts and group play will be featured. Transportation will be provided.

Mrs. Zinkham reported that 50 campers a week are anticipated. Applications can still be obtained by phoning the association at 775-7241.

C. A. Peters, executive director of the group, reported approximately 30 retarded children and adults already have attended camping programs supported by the retarded children's association.

School Gyms Due $37,641 In Equipment

The Hancock County Board of Education has purchased $37,641 in new equipment for gymnasiums at two new high schools—Oak Glen and Weir High—slated to open late this fall.

The board purchased bleachers, scoreboards and basketball backboards for the two gymnasiums on recommendation of William Kellam of Kellam and Foley, architects for the $5 million school expansion program.

The Brunswick Co. will furnish all-steel, vinyl-covered bleachers for the 1,600-seat Weir High gymnasium, and the 1,200-seat Oak Glen gymnasium in Pughtown.

Supt. Robert H. Hall pointed out there is no wood used in the bleachers purchased from Brunswick Co. and the vinyl is bonded to the steel seats to reduce maintenance.

Bleachers for Weir cost $14,987, and for Oak Glen, $13,440, or a total cost of $28,427.

Scoreboards and backboards were purchased from Casto-Harris, a West Virginia firm. Six backstops were purchased for each gym, along with a scoreboard for each.

Cost of the backstops is $8,034 and the scoreboards are $590 each. Total cost of the backstops and scoreboards is $9,214.

The board plans to move other gymnasium equipment to the new schools from high schools to be converted to junior high buildings, such as tumbling mats and trampolines.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I remove the grayish bloom that has developed on furniture?

A. Usually this will yield to a wiping with a soft cloth wrung out of warm water containing vinegar (about a tablespoon to a quart of the water). Rub the finish dry with a clean, soft cloth. On a waxed finish, a rub with liquid wax will usually remove the bloom.

Q. How can I clean my blackened andirons?

A. Remove the deposits on andirons with white gasoline (used out-of-doors, of course). Follow this with kitchen cleanser. Complete the cleaning with metal polish. Clean any pitted areas with a vinegar-salt solution, then rinse quickly.

Q. What's an easy way to remove inkstains from the fingers?

A. Moisten the stain, then rub with the sulphur end of a match, and wipe with a dry cloth.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Exercise Helps Keep Figure Young

The secret of keeping a young figure is to use the bracing front muscles and the big hip muscles as a girdle. The two-way control afforded by this muscular girdle is a usefully streamlining.

The familiar instructions to pull hips down and d under and front muscles up - and-in Ida Jean Kain are meant to get the figure in perfect balance. However, it's easy to get off center with that down-and-under pull.

A better rule is to contract the hip muscles strongly as you pull up snugly with the front muscles. Force the middle muscles themselves to do the lifting. They are capable of two actions — an in-pull and an up-pull. Make sure the up-pull comes first.

In the right line-up, the whole body is free, with shoulders relaxed and arms easy. Being balanced gives a feeling of buoyancy and slimmness. Try it.

STAND SIDEWAYS to a full length mirror in your natural posture. Now, pull your dining-room up strongly, and contract snugly with the sitting-room muscles.

See? You're measurably slimmer. That's the girdle muscles in streamlining action.

To get the "feel" of this girdle control, practice this exercise action ...

Stand against the wall, back and head touching wall, heels a couple of inches away from wall. Slowly bend knees — go about half-way down — trying to make all parts of the spine touch the wall. Now slowly straighten knees, keeping entire spine against the wall.

This calls for a strong up-pull with the middle muscles — the trying is exercise. Try it again.

Cornelia Otis Skinner, that delightful actress and inimitable author, told me she practices this posture exercise going up and down in elevators! If the operator happens to look around she says gaily, "Just taking my exercise."

Well, the best possible exercise is the practice of good posture, and Miss Skinner has a magnificent posture.

Legion Auxiliary Picnic Draws 25

Several committees were named at a coverd picnic of the Columbiana County Council of American Legion Auxiliaries Tuesday night at the Wellsville Roadside Park. About 25 attended.

Mrs. Lois Burdick, president, appointed Mrs. Freida Skvarka of East End Post 374, child welfare chairman; Mrs. Irene Zoellers of Columbiana Post 290, rehabilitation, and Mrs. Norma Jean Poynter of Post 374, placement.

In the annual reports, it was announced $85 was spent on child welfare and $54.50, on rehabilitation. Secretaries of the individual units reported on membership and activities.

Mrs. Carmella Boyce, president of the host unit, Wellsville Post 70, extended the welcome. Plans to revise the by-laws will be discussed at the next meeting Aug. 20 at Glenmoor Post 736 home.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I would like to thank all the people in the world who have kids. Especially my mom and dad. I know it isn't easy to bring up a family, but it isn't easy to be a kid either. I would like to let my mom and dad know that I love them the way they are and I really don't want them to change. Yesterday I lost my temper something terrible and said some things I didn't mean. I called them unfit parents. If anyone is unfit it's me. I'm so mad at myself for what I said I'd like to bite off my tongue.

Although I am only 13 years old I know very well the best friends kids have are their mom and dad. From now on I'm going to control my big mouth and show them how much they mean to me. —SORRY NOW.

want to quit earlier than the losers.

Law For In-Laws

Dear Ann: We live about two miles from a shopping center. Our parents do their grocery marketing out this way so they just drop in to see their little grandchild.

They don't stay more than a half hour but all the same it upsets me to have them just pop in like that. Don't you think they should telephone in advance and ask if it is convenient?

They are lovely people, Ann, and I do like them but we have our own life and our own friends. Am I wrong to consider this an invasion of our privacy? I'd like your opinion. — KEYPORT, N. J.

is easy to make and it should be a must.

I can see no evidence, however, that these lovely people are trying to "take over your life" or "interfere with your friends" — so retract your claws, Toots, and get your blood pressure back to normal. Your in-law troubles are plenty minor.

Confidentially

TO CLUMSY OX: I agree it sounds as if you put on the floor show. There's nothing you can do now but replace the figurine and be more careful in the future. And maybe you should stick to ginger ale.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Use Care In Levy Petitions, County Election Board Asks

Revive Old Custom

Dear Ann: Five married couples used to take turns having the gang over once a week. We women sat and talked after supper while the men played cards. It was enjoyable but we had to give it up because the men never knew when to quit. It was too difficult for us girls to party until 2 or 3 a.m. and then get up the next morning and do our housework and chase after young children.

Now the men have their card games and the women stay home but they still don't know when to quit. And it's worse. Last week Clifford came home at 6:30 in the morning. Yesterday it was almost 8 a.m.

One of the women claims we shouldn't gripe. She said, "We at least know where they are. They could be doing worse." I say if a man wants to do worse he will.

I hate for our children to see their father coming in at such disgraceful hours. Last week the milkman saw him.

Do you have a solution for this? — THE JOKER IS WILD.

Dear Mrs. Joker: You girls made a big mistake when you dealt yourselves out. Reactivate those man and wife get-togethers starting at your home. After two or three evenings, bring up the question and settle on a sane quitting time.

Encourage the consistent winners to spearhead this campaign. You'll find them surprisingly receptive. The winners always

The Columbiana County Election Board today urged political subdivisions filing tax levies for renewal at the November general election to check with their legal advisors, as many are being listed in with the wrong millage rate.

Frank R. O'Hanlon, clerk, said the millage was reduced on levies adopted two or three years ago when the new tax valuation went into effect after the reappraisal by the county auditor's office.

For example, a 3-mill levy under the old valuation may have been reduced to 2.6-mills under the new valuation, as a levy is allowed only to provide the return for which it was originally intended.

The board is being flooded with tax levies, most of which are renewals of those approved four or five years ago. Based on the current valuation, the levy now would return more money, which is not allowed by law.

The renewals must be based on the reduced levy according to a 1960 opinion of the state attorney general, O'Hanlon commented. He urged all the subdivisions except the independents, such as East Liverpool, Wellsville, East Palestine, Salem and Lisbon, to check with the county prosecutor's office.

The prosecutor advised the subdivisions of the new valuation and urged previously.

O'Hanlon pointed out the subdivision seeking a renewal can list the reduced millage and then ask for an increase to bring the millage back up to what it was before. But they are not being filed this way, he said.

Some have been caught at the office and are being sent back for correction, but the staff does not know all the levy amounts and some have to be accepted as they are, he said.

Meanwhile, three candidates have filed for township posts.

Alfred L. Stoudt of Hanover Township, R. D. 1 has filed for re-election as Hanover Township clerk and Robert M. Cole of Salineville has filed for re-election as Washington Township clerk.

Chester L. Stuckey filed Tuesday for Hanover Township trustee. The deadline for non-partisan candidates to file is Aug. 7.

Odors Explained At Sewage Plant In East Palestine

EAST PALESTINE — Overloading of the city's old sewage disposal plant and introduction of poisonous materials about three weeks ago is causing the offensive odor throughout the city, officials have been advised.

The stench which has wrinkled noses for the past several weeks apparently will be around until the new $270,000 sewage plant is operating in about a month.

Merrill Riehl, Youngstown city sanitary engineer asked to investigate the odor by Mayor Robert Harding, said the older plant is overloaded and was not able to properly handle an influx of "discolored, obnoxious" material of unknown origin which entered the plant three weeks ago.

Riehl said the new plant is of a type which will be able to process such toxic materials.

Slam By Triandos
Peps Detroit Win

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

There is an old axiom in baseball, to wit: Beware of the shunted player.

Time and again a traded athlete has come back either to haunt his former team or vent his wrath on another club.

This was the case Wednesday night — on a whole-sale basis — in the American League.

In Detroit, veteran catcher Gus Triandos, acquired in a trade with Baltimore last winter, uncorked a grand slam homer against his old club to help the Tigers gain a 9-1 victory.

In Los Angeles, another veteran catcher, Hank Foiles, assured the Angels of a doubleheader sweep against Cleveland by scoring the second game's only run after smacking a three-bagger in a 7-2 and 1-0 twin success.

Foiles, who has seen service with six other big league clubs, twice was traded away by the Indians.

A pair of other discards, pitchers Paul Foytack and Art Fowler, combined to hold the Indians to four hits in the nightcap. Foytack, obtained from Detroit last month, gave up three hits in eight innings to gain his second triumph for his new club. Fowler, who mopped up, is a veteran campaigner of several clubs.

The double triumph boosted the Angels to within 1 1/2 games of the sixth-place Indians.

In Kansas City, Charlie Lau, the much-traveled catcher, hit a three-run homer and outfielder

Friendly Bowling Nine
Romps To 17-3 Victory

Three Friendly Bowling - Merchants hurlers combined for a two-hitter and received a sound 17-hit backing from their teammates in a 17-3 victory over Clarkson - Rogers Wednesday at Patterson Field.

Agnew hurled five innings and gave up only one hit, Carnahan pitched one frame and Ron Enginger finished up in the seventh inning and gave up the other hit.

Fleet-footed Bob Gessford, Fraider and Prentice all pounded out three hits apiece to pace the East Liverpool nine. Carnahan and Berhar smacked triples for the winners.

Manager John Andrason's team now holds a 3-1 record in the second half of the County - City League with East Palestine Gold on Dawn in first place with a 4-0 record after last night's 5-1 victory over Negley.

Pony Opener Changed To Friday At Beaver

A change has been announced for the Pony League tournament involving East Liverpool and Beaver.

The two teams will open the tournament Friday at Beaver instead of Saturday as originally scheduled. Game time for Friday's opener is 6 p. m. The tourney was scheduled to open at East Liverpool on Saturday.

After Friday's opener, the two teams will move to East Liverpool's Dopler Field for the second game Saturday at 2 p. m. A third game in the double elimination tourney will be played Saturday at 6 p. m. if necessary.

Pancake and Klembara stroked home runs.

Woodbine came up with 11 hits including three by Tice to whip Golden Star. Caruso was the winning pitcher and was helped by a home run off the bat of Smith. McKinnon collected three hits for the losers.

Galeno Pitches One-Hitter
To Square Minor Playoffs

The playoff series in the Minor League was all square today and Mike Galeno made it that way as he pitched a one-hitter in a 14-0 victory for Rogers Drive-In over Potters Savings and Loan Wednesday.

The two teams will meet Friday at Farrell Field to decide the Minor League championship. Potters Savings won Monday's DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — A funny thing happened to brash and brazen Phil Rodgers, the golfing fireplug, on his way to winning the 1962 U.S. Open and the 1963 British Open championships.

He didn't.

Still the six-foot fir tree and the four-putt green that cost him the Open and the incredible putting of left-hander Bob Charles that cost him last week's British title aren't particularly bothering the sawed-off mighty mite who is among the top contenders in the 45th Professional Golfers Association championship beginning today.

Nor is the sudden changeover from English to heat-seared Texas conditions disturbing him as it is others who challenged for the British championship last week. In fact, Rodgers, 25, says he can't

Braves Top Cubs;
St. Louis Climbs

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

If it had been up to Ron Perranoski, he wouldn't be with the Los Angeles Dodgers today.

And if he weren't with the Dodgers today, they very well might not be riding so comfortably in front in the National League race.

After college at Michigan State, Perranoski signed for a bonus with the Chicago Cubs, "because I thought I'd reach the majors faster through their system."

Then after two seasons in the minors, he was traded to the Dodgers in 1960 — and was admittedly disappointed — "I thought I'd get lost in the shuffle with them."

But by 1961, the youthful left-hander was with the Dodgers to stay. And now, at 26, he ranks as one of the best at an extremely vital specialty—relief pitching.

Perranoski exhibited his value Wednesday night, preserving Bob Miller's 3-2 decision over Pittsburgh with 2 2/3 innings of scoreless relief. The handsome southpaw now has finished 10 winning games, in addition to compiling a 9-2 record.

By edging the Pirates, the Dodgers boosted their lead to 6 1/2 games over the Chicago Cubs, who were trimmed by Milwaukee 6-4. St. Louis moved to within one percentage point of second place, beating Cincinnati 3-1 in two eight-inning runs produced by the star batting trio of Dick Gorat, Bill White and Ken Boyer.

New York's last-place Mets further humbled San Francisco, dealing the defending champion Giants the eighth loss in their last 10 games, 9-7 on Joe Hicks' 11th-

Doped Horse May Reveal
Big British Race Scandal

LONDON (AP) — The biggest scandal in the history of British horse racing was reported about to break today with newspapers openly hinting that Reiko, runaway winner of the English Derby, was doped.

Racing authorities said they are convinced that a doping gang with immense monetary backing now is operating on British tracks.

The Jockey Club, blue blooded dictators of the British turf, took the unprecedented step of offering a $5,000 reward for anyone who can stop the dopers.

Even more unusual, it offered an amnesty for any trainer, jockey or stable boy who talks. Previously anyone with the remotest connection with doping was automatically barred from the tracks.

Watched by Queen Elizabeth and the royal family, French-owned Reiko stormed home May 29 to win the $98,947 Epsom Derby by an easy six lengths at odds of 5-1.

Routine saliva tests were made immediately after his victory. The Daily Express said these tests suggest that Reiko was given a stimulant. Other papers said as much without naming the horse.

Out Of The Air

By ALAN GILL

Far-Flung You And Far-Flung Me

Through the "miracle of electronics," as the TV pitchmen keep telling us, we are having our minds stretched, our taste level raised a yard or two, our leisure time filled, our souls (presumably) saved and our awareness of the world around us made keen and sharp.

Alan Gill

Instead of going now and paying later, for example, we can sit back in our sling chairs and see the world on television.

One night NBC News can give us a "Report From Tokyo" and the very next afternoon CBS can hook up a four-cornered conversation between Dwight Eisenhower in Denver, Anthony Eden in London, Jean Monnet in Brussels and Heinrich von Brentano in Cologne—all through the "miracle" of Telstar II.

"THANKS to electronics," Walter Cronkite was saying in "Town Meeting of the World," "we all may be entering a new era of diplomacy," and I doubt it.

International forums convened via communications satellite may not only lead, said Cronkite, to a "discussion but to a settlement of differences," and I doubt that, too.

Diplomacy and the settlement of differences will continue to be conducted in walnut-paneled offices of state and in roccoco palaces off in the country somewhere and out of earshot for the public.

I THINK IT is unlikely that many startling, or illuminating, or revolutionary, or diplomatically generous statements will be bounced off Telstar or Relay in the months ahead.

Politicians have a habit of speaking in pomposities and bombast when they are speaking to the people of other lands; and they generally speak in a language those people do not understand.

Listening to one of our own elected officials can at times be trying; listening to one of theirs can be downright unnerving.

Still, the global "town meeting" is something worth attempting, if only to get it out of the Columbia Broadcasting System's system. And they intend to convene more of them.

The distinguished quartette they signed on for the opener could hardly be improved upon for sheer star appeal, though, and I can't imagine what kind of a second act CBS can assemble.

LAST WEEK'S guests, though they said nothing very newsworthy, were models of benevolence (Mr. Eisenhower), charm (Mr. Eden), articulation (Mr.

Monnet) and deep seriousness (Mr. von Brentano). But perhaps the most effective of the program's personalities was not even present. He was Charles de Gaulle, who, by denying the use of French facilities to the show, succeeded in blacking it out across Europe.

On NBC the night before, reporter John Rich gave the once-over-lightly treatment to a couple of stories that are all the talk over in Tokyo. The first is that city's preparations for the 1964 Olympic Games, which, not at all coincidentally, will be telecast exclusively on NBC.

IN THIS SEGMENT, Rich focused his camera on some traffic policemen who were learning to answer questions put to them in English. After their lessons, Rich tried them out with a few inquiries.

"Is the water safe?" he asked. "Water?" a policeman replied, in extreme puzzlement. "Safe?" "Yes. Is the water safe for drinking?"

"Water," repeated the policeman in extreme inscrutability, "Safe."

Then Rich showed us a number of Japanese teen-agers, who have taken to borrowing such Western commodities as the twist, rock 'n' roll, leather jackets, impolite behavior and despair.

The major cause of teen-age deaths, we were told, is suicide. We learned, too, that the importation of Western music, books, movies and art has given Japan "a cultural tummy ache" and that Japan is "a roaring economy in search of an ideology."

For the youths there, "the question, 'Who am I?' still goes largely unanswered."

It was an interesting 30 minutes and NBC plans on taking you and me off to a few more of the world's far-flung capitals before the summer is over. BON VOYAGE!

Negroes Call Off Marches In Maryland

CAMBRIDGE, Md. (AP) — Negro leaders tentatively called off demonstrations for at least another week today following announcement that Gov. J. Millard Tawes would ask a committee of distinguished attorneys to help bring about racial peace here.

Thomas B. Finan, Maryland attorney general, made the announcement from the steps of the Cambridge Armory shortly after midnight.

Finan's announcement came after a day-long series of meetings with town officials, members of the Human Relations Committee and Negro leaders.

Finan said Gov. Tawes would request the racial relations committee of the Maryland State Bar Association to confer with leaders of both sides.

While Finan met with Negro leaders Wednesday night, a general donnybrook broke out among six white men, state police and a news photographer. The brawl erupted after a minor auto accident near the armory.

Fists flew and cameras were being used as clubs before the fight was broken up by police and the six white men taken into protective custody. No charges were placed.

Negroes have held demonstrations on several occasions despite a ban on protests by the National Guard which holds the town under partial military rule.

Timken Charts Plan To Offer Employees Stock

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — Timken Roller Bearing Co. announced today it is preparing a proposal which would offer employees "a substantial share in the progress of the company" through ownership of company stock.

The announcement followed opening of negotiations with the United Steelworkers of America Wednesday on basic labor, insurance and pension agreements.

Details of the stock ownership proposal have not been completed, the company said. It added that the proposal would be a radical departure from past labor negotiations.

Timken asked that the union accept the proposal on a trial basis and that if it did not prove satisfactory the plan would be abandoned.

Union demands in the current negotiations include selective wage increases, improvements in insurance and pension benefits and a shorter work week or an extended vacation plan similar to that contained in the basic steel contract.

Symbol Of His Race

Robinson Had Struggle But Led Negroes Into Professional Ball

By JOE REICHLER

Associated Press Sports Writer NEW YORK (AP) — On Jan. 23, 1962, Jackie Robinson, who had played in the major leagues for 10 sometimes brilliant and always stormy seasons, was elected into baseball's Hall of Fame, the sport's consummate tribute to a player's skills.

But the remembrance of Robinson, far beyond his unquestioned skills on a ball field, forever will be for his tremendous impact on the sports world as the first Negro player in professional baseball.

THE SELECTION of Robinson a torch bearer for his people was no accident. When Branch Rickey singled him out as the ideal athlete for an idealistic experiment, Robinson was more than just another ball player. He was a symbol.

Normally explosive in temperament, he had to accept unprecedented abuse, taunts, threats by fans and opposition players. The Jim Crow treatment and hostility existed among his own teammates.

IN PHILADELPHIA, the Phillies carried black cats out onto the field. In St. Louis, the Cardinals threatened to strike if he were not yanked from the Brooklyn line-up. In Cincinnati, Reds players deliberately tried to spike him. In Atlanta, he was threatened by the Ku Klux Klan.

Ignored by his teammates, insulted by enemy players, refused admittance by certain hotels on the road, Robinson always turned the other cheek. Imprinted in his mind, like a burning scar, was Rickey's warning that summer day in 1945 when the Dodger general manager first appraised him of his intentions:

"I WANT a man with enough restraint, intelligence and character to accept any and all abuse that inevitably will be heaped upon him."

"I want a man with enough guts not to fight back."

The early resentment against Negroes in general and Robinson in particular has long since disappeared in baseball.

Less than a year after Robinson first donned a Dodger uniform, the American League had its first Negro player in Larry Doby. Within 10 every club in the majors but one had at least one Negro player. Boston's Red Sox joined in 1959.

TODAY 90 of the 500 players are Negroes, about 18 per cent compared to the 10 per cent Negro population in the United States. Some of the game's greatest stars are Negroes. Willie Mays, Ernie Banks, Don Newcombe, Frank Robinson, Henry Aaron, Roy Campanella, Maury Wills and Robinson, earned Most Valuable Player awards. Mays, at $100,000, is one of the highest salaried players in the history of the game.

EQUAL treatment of the Negro is not confined to baseball alone in the professional sports field. Big league football is proud of Jimmy Brown, Cleveland's all-time great; Bill Willis; Marion Motley; Buddy Young; Roosevelt Brown; Jim Parker; Ollie Matson; Joe Perry; and others.

Pro basketball, taking its cue from baseball, opened its doors to such standouts as Chuck Cooper, Maurice Stokes, Dick Ricketts, Elgin Baylor, Oscar Robertson, Guy Rodgers, Bill Russell, Sam Jones, Wilt Chamberlain and many more.

BOXING, of course, never has discriminated against Negroes. Other sports have been slower in accepting them but there are no longer any barriers as such, official or by "gentleman's agreement."

For the first time last year Negro baseball players received the same treatment as whites at Southern spring training camps. Prior to last year, because of local laws and practices, Negroes were not permitted to live in the same hotels and eat in the same restaurants in certain Florida cities.

Baseball clubs overcame that by moving their personnel out of restricted hotels, and purchasing or leasing their own motels. In several instances, hotels changed their policy when faced with the threat of losing the entire club.

into producing pamphlets and put them into playgrounds, we would save some lives."

BUC Recovers $66,000 From False Claims

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Bureau of Unemployment Compensation said today investigations during June led to recovery of $66,000 in fraudulently obtained jobless benefits.

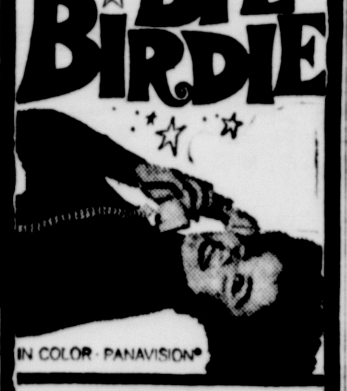

A check of 719 cases showed that 127 claimants received overpayments, BUC Administrator Willard P. Dudley reported.

He said affidavits were filed against 95 recipients and that 38 went on trial. Cleveland and Cincinnati judges imposed maximum workhouse sentences of six months and fines of $500 for flagrant violations. Several recipients falsely claimed to be supporting wives and children, Dudley said.

Coal Miners Strike At U.S. Steel Pit

CARMICHAELS, Pa. (AP) — Coal miners walked off the job early today at U. S. Steel Corp.'s Robena mines near this southwestern Pennsylvania community.

Financial Secretary Carl Shotts of Local 6321, United Mine Workers, said the walkout was called by the union's safety committee, but he gave no other details.

He added that a meeting of the miners had been tentatively set for Saturday in Masontown.

About 700 to 800 miners are affected by the work stoppage.

Although raw onion wedges are usually used to thread between pieces of lamb or beef for skewered broiling, drained canned whole small onions may be substituted. This is a good idea for those eaters who want their onion really tender — a stage not achieved during skewer cookery with the raw vegetable.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

College 'Bust-Out' Shouldn't Give Up

A great many parents are worried now over getting a son or daughter into college. Another group of parents are worried over the child who "busted out" at college, that is, was told by the college not to return. Still bigger worries are borne by the youth himself, trying to enter a college and Dr. Garry Meyers stay there till he graduates. It's especially tragic for the "busted-out" youth and his parents if he entered college with high hopes, after having excelled in his home town high school. There are some of such.

former college by and by or enter another in good standing. You and I know a goodly number who have done so with marked success.

OUR PLACE AS parents is to learn about such restorative opportunities and to build hope and ambition in the youth to seize upon them.

An occasional bright youth, having "busted out," drives himself to pursue a planned reading course or to work with a tutor, even to complete a correspondence course or enter a technical school or college for which he has strong aptitudes.

The "busted-out" students who land jobs might pursue night courses, to further their education and enable them to finish college.

It is of first importance that the "busted-out" does not give up and drift onto the scrapheap. He is worth salvaging. His parents, conspiring with their relatives and friends, the home community indeed, should strive hard to help rebuild his self-regard and his will to develop his talents to the full.

Some "bust-outs" decide to get married, counting on their parents for support. Often marriage hampers their further education, though sometimes it results in greater striving.

HOWEVER, "busting-out" of college may be a calamity for any youth. He and his parents dread to have to explain to the relatives and friends. Wise are they when they face reality. Occasionally, alas, in desperation they will give false reasons such as impaired health. Only so only adds to their suffering and defeats their ends. Opportunities for employment are scant.

What about the future?

Great as may be the disappointment to his parents, how can they afford to let this get them down or destroy their regard for this son or daughter as a precious person and member of the family and his esteem of them?

Hope for the youth who "busted-out" of college need not be lost. While he may not be able to enter another college next fall, he may find a college even within commuting distance, where he can take night courses or special day courses in order to earn credits or prepare to pass examinations qualifying him to return to his persons who even had two reckless driving violations in a single day. And there are some people who don't know that speeding is against the law.

Department records show 77 motorists had compiled 9 points up to July 1. Hearing officers conducted 88 interviews which resulted in 16 license suspensions averaging 90 days, but, in some instances, running up to six months.

Pickle Packers Pick Dill - 'Man Of Year'

ST. LOUIS — When the National Pickle Packers Association picked Dill L. Pickle of Hollandale, Miss., as its "Man of the Year," the St. Louis Post-Dispatch couldn't resist pointing out that Mr. Pickle was in a strong position to challenge the legendary Mr. Piper in the tongue-twisting department.

A whimsical article offered the following as a new tongue-twisting test: "The National Pickle Packers picked a man of the year, a man of the year the National Pickle Packers picked. If the National Pickle Packers picked a man of the year, Dill L. Pickle is the man the pickle packers picked."

West Virginia Driver Point System Seen 'Working Fine'

CHARLESTON W. Va. (AP) — Motor Vehicles Commissioner Jack A. Nuckols says after nearly nine months of operation the state's drivers license points system appears to be working fine.

Nuckols credits the new system with reducing the state's 1963 highway death toll to a level below last year at this time. One hundred and ninety persons have been killed on state highways so far this year, compared to 221 on this date a year ago.

"If the points system hasn't cut that figure, what has?" Nuckols asks. "It's the only thing that's new in the over-all picture. Nothing else has changed since last year."

Under the program, drivers are assessed points against their license for certain moving vehicle law violations.

Running a stop sign or red light carries a 3-point penalty. Six points are charged for reckless driving and speeding faster than 75 miles per hour.

Nuckols says only 20 of 1,886 motorists who received letters of caution after receiving six points went on to compile 12 points which usually brings interviews by department representatives, and in some cases, suspension of licenses.

He says since the new program began some surprising things have been encountered. For instance, he said, "We have found

Free Methodists Choose 3 Heads For Conference

Dividing the responsibility in what formerly was a one-man position, delegates to the opening session of the Pittsburgh Conference of the Free Methodist Church Wednesday named three superintendents for the conference.

The superintendents include the Rev. R. L. Page of East Liverpool, who formerly had the sole responsibility of overseeing the conference. He was returned as superintendent at the 1962 session.

About 275 ministers, lay delegates and visitors attended the first session of the 81st annual meeting, which is being held at the denomination's campground on Anderson Blvd.

The meeting will close Saturday afternoon.

Other superintendents named include the Rev. J. S. Mitchell of Wellsburg and the Rev. E. W. Cowser of Fairmont.

The three superintendents, who will be of equal rank, will be assigned to their respective areas by the stationing committee, which also was elected at the opening session.

The committee is comprised of the Rev. Mitchell, the Rev. W. L. Woods of Tarentum, Pa., and the Rev. Edward Savage of Hopwood, Pa.

The session was opened by Bishop Edward C. John of Spring Arbor, Mich. Devotions followed.

Elected as conference secretaries were the Rev. R. S. McGrew of Apollo, Pa., the Rev. H. C. Mitchell of Carmichael, Pa., and the Rev. J. E. Lee of Pittsburgh.

Ministers recommended by the Board of Ministerial Training to deacons orders were the Rev. Raymond Lee, pastor at Hopwood, and the Rev. V. R. Snyder, pastor at Sarver, Pa.

Midland Asks More Funds For Project

The Midland Municipal Authority, in a special meeting Wednesday, accepted a $141,000 federal grant to aid in expansion of the water treatment plant and authorized Solicitor Robert Masters to prepare forms for borrowing of an additional $141,000 that will be needed to complete the project.

The grant was announced Tuesday under the Federal Accelerated Public Works Program.

The authority also authorized a legal advertisement for bids on the project, expecting to open the offers sometime in late August.

The authority was told plans have been completed for the improvement of the heating facilities at the sewage plant and the specifications have been drawn.

Under recommendation of the engineering firm of Michael Baker Jr., Inc., of Rochester the specifications were accepted and the firm was authorized to advertise for bids on the work.

The firm also was authorized to draw specifications for bidding on the painting of the water storage tanks above 8th St. and another on Midland Heights.

Two sets of specifications are to be drawn — one for a regular oil base paint and one for a new epoxy-base paint. One of the tanks is to be painted both inside and outside, while the smaller is to be painted on the outside only.

The authority was informed that the construction on the Grit chamber in the facility had been completed.

Bills of $41,370.80 for water, $2,618.19 for sewage and $3,461.09 for parking were ordered paid. Other reports were accepted.

In a meeting of a committee from Borough Council and the authority Wednesday evening, the authority was authorized to make immediate purchase of meters for the two new parking lots to be set at the same rates as the existing lot. The existing rates are 5 cents for a half-hour, 10 cents for an hour and 25 cents for four hours.

Workmen Set Record At J&L Steel Plant

CLEVELAND (AP) — Workmen set a new world record Wednesday in pouring the two-millionth ton of steel produced at the Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp.'s Cleveland Works, the company reported.

The batch in which the milestone-ton was produced included 239.4 tons of medium carbon steel, which was processed in 27 minutes in the basic oxygen plant. "Nobody ever before made that much steel that fast," said a J & L spokesman.

J & L said the two million tons produced in the basic oxygen shop would be enough steel to make 1.7 million cars or 21 million refrigerators.

Trophies Due Winners

Lisbon Seeks More Units For Celebration Parades

LISBON — More units are being sought to march in two parades next week during the "Morgan's Raid" Centennial and the annual Lions Club street fair, Gerald Sanders, 348 Thomas Rd., parade chairman, said today.

A historical parade is scheduled Thursday, July 25, and an "old-time" parade is set Saturday, July 27. Winners in the Thursday night parade will be asked to join in the procession Saturday. Trophies for both parades will be awarded Saturday, Sanders said.

The Lions Club street fair will open Wednesday and continue through Saturday.

Sanders said trophies will be awarded for: Floats, historical units, historical costumes — both adult and children's — junior and senior marching units, drill teams, comedy units, most unusual antique car and the unit traveling the greatest distance.

Thursday's parade will start at 7. Saturday's parade is set for 6. All units must register each evening at the McKinley School. They then will be assigned positions on Pritchard Ave. and Pritchard Ave. Ext. Further information is available from Sanders at HA 4-3236 or HA 4-3234.

All girls who are members of Blue Birds, Camp Fire Girls, Junior High or Horizon Club and the former Girl Scouts Brownie Troop have been asked to march in the Lion's Parade Wednesday. They

Oil Leaks Into River In Wellsville Vicinity

A large quantity of industrial oil leaked from a barge at the Allied Oil Co. terminal on the Ohio River at the lower end of Nevada St., Wellsville, Tuesday night and Wednesday.

A hole was knocked in the side of the barge when it was bumped by another. The plant pumped the oil from the damaged barge until the level was below the hole.

The oil covered the river and struck to the sides of boats at the Wellsville Boat Club, upriver from the terminal. There is an eddy which carried the oil up stream.

A representative of the firm met with boat club members Wednesday night to discuss the damages.

Settlement Ends Suit

LISBON — An out-of-court settlement was reached Wednesday afternoon in an $18,000 civil action filed by Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Potter of R. D. 5 against Mrs. Leona Caldwell of Penny Farms, Fla. The plaintiffs alleged they were not told in advance that a home they purchased from the defendant was infested with termites. A Common Pleas Court jury which had been hearing the case was dismissed by Judge Joel H. Sharp.

Rails Panel To End Work On Findings

WASHINGTON (AP)—With no settlement in sight, a special six-man panel plans today to finish its task of arming President Kennedy with the facts he needs to recommend legislation designed to avert a nationwide rail strike.

Representatives of management and labor first get their chance to comment on the report completed Wednesday by the special committee and then it goes, in finished form, to the President Friday.

The President will use the fact-finding report in drawing up recommendations for legislation to be submitted to Congress next Monday. Congress will have seven days then to grind out legislation before the deadline.

Both sides have agreed to hold off any action until July 29 in the work rules dispute which may involve the elimination of some 65,000 jobs that the railroads consider unnecessary.

The five operating unions contend the jobs are necessary and should be continued. They have said they will strike immediately if the new work rules are put into effect.
